

CORTINA FUNDS, INC.

Supplement to Prospectus dated November 1, 2018
and Summary Prospectus dated November 1, 2018 and Statement of Additional Information dated November 1, 2018

CORTINA SMALL CAP GROWTH FUND

(Institutional Class: CRSGX)

CORTINA SMALL CAP VALUE FUND

(Institutional Class: CRSVX)

(Investor Class: CISVX)

On February 5, 2019, the Board of Directors of Cortina Funds, Inc. (the "Board") approved Plans of Liquidation (the "Plans") for the Cortina Small Cap Growth Fund and the Cortina Small Cap Value Fund (each a "Fund" and collectively, the "Funds"), upon the recommendation of Cortina Asset Management, LLC (the "Adviser") to liquidate the Funds. After considering a variety of factors, the Board concluded that it was in the best interests of each Fund and its shareholders that the Funds be closed to new investments effective at the close of business on February 5, 2019 and liquidated effective as of the close of business on March 22, 2019 (the "Liquidation Date").

The Plan determines the manner in which each Fund will be liquidated. Although the Funds are closed to most new purchases, you may continue to redeem your shares of a Fund as provided in the Funds' Prospectus. Please note, however, that each Fund will be liquidating its assets as of the close of business on the Liquidation Date. Each Fund has determined to waive the redemption fee of 2.00% imposed on shares redeemed within 60 days of purchase for redemptions of Fund shares that occur after the date of this supplement.

Each Fund's respective portfolio manager(s) will likely increase the Fund's assets held in cash and cash equivalents in order to prepare for the orderly liquidation of the Fund. As a result, each Fund is expected to deviate from its stated investment objective, policies and strategies. The Adviser will bear all expenses of the liquidation to the extent such expenses are not part of a Fund's customary fees and operating expenses.

Pursuant to the Plans, any shareholder who has not redeemed their shares of a Fund prior to March 22, 2019 will have their shares redeemed in cash and will receive one or more payments representing the shareholder's proportionate interest in the net assets of the Fund as of March 22, 2019, subject to any required withholdings. Shareholders (other than tax-qualified plans or tax-exempt accounts) will recognize gain or loss for federal income tax purposes on the redemption of their Fund shares in the liquidation. In addition, each Fund and its shareholders will bear the transaction costs and tax consequences associated with the disposition of the Fund's portfolio holdings prior to the Liquidation Date. Each Fund may make a distribution of net capital gains and net investment income, if any, prior to March 22, 2019. Shareholders should consult their tax advisers for further information about federal, state and local tax consequences relative to their specific situation.

Important Information for Retirement Plan Investors

If you are a retirement plan investor, you should consult your tax adviser regarding the consequences of a redemption of Fund shares. If you hold your Fund shares through a tax-deferred retirement account, you should consult with your tax adviser or account custodian to determine how you may reinvest your redemption proceeds on a tax-deferred basis. If you will receive a distribution from an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) or a Simplified Employee Pension (SEP) IRA but want to avoid having to include the distribution in your taxable income for the year, you must either roll the proceeds into another IRA within 60 days of the date of the distribution (a "60-day rollover") or request the distribution be made directly to another IRA or eligible retirement plan (a "direct rollover"). Please note you can make only one tax-free, 60-day rollover of a distribution you receive from an IRA to another (or the same) IRA during any 12-month period, regardless of the number of IRAs you own. If you receive a distribution from a 403(b)(7) custodial account (tax-sheltered account) or a Keogh account, you must effect a 60-day rollover or a direct rollover to an eligible retirement plan to avoid disqualification of the plan and inclusion of the distribution in your taxable income for the year. If you are the trustee of a qualified retirement plan or the custodian of a 403(b)(7) custodial account (tax-sheltered account) or a Keogh account, you may reinvest the proceeds in any way permitted by its governing instrument.

Investment Objective

The Cortina Small Cap Growth Fund (the "Fund") seeks growth of capital.

Fees and Expenses of the Fund

This table describes the fees and expenses that you may pay if you buy and hold shares of the Fund.

Shareholder Fees ( fees paid directly from your investment )
Redemption Fees ( as a percentage of amount redeemed, if redeemed within 60 days of initial investment )	2.00%
Annual Fund Operating Expenses ( expenses that you pay each year as a percentage of the value of your investment )
Management Fees	1.00%
Other Expenses	0.81%
Total Annual Fund Operating Expenses	1.81%
Less: Fee Waiver/Expense Reimbursement	(0.71)%
Total Annual Fund Operating Expenses After Fee Waiver/Expense Reimbursement <sup>(1)</sup>	1.10%

<sup>(1)</sup> Cortina Asset Management, LLC (the "Adviser") has contractually agreed to waive management fees and/or reimburse the Fund's operating expenses in order to limit the Fund's total annual fund operating expenses (excluding taxes, leverage, interest, brokerage commissions, dividends or interest expenses on short positions, acquired fund fees and expenses ("AFFE") and extraordinary expenses) to 1.10% of average daily net assets of the Fund. The agreement will continue in effect at least through October 31, 2019. Subsequent to October 31, 2019, this expense cap/reimbursement agreement will automatically continue for successive renewal terms of one year each, unless either the Fund's Board of Directors (the "Board") or the Adviser notifies the other party of its desire to terminate prior to such renewal. The Adviser may request a reimbursement from the Fund to recapture any reduced management fees or reimbursed Fund expenses within three years following the fee reduction or expense reimbursement, but only to the extent the Fund's total annual fund operating expenses plus any requested reimbursement amount are less than the above limit at the time of the request.

Example

The Example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds.

The Example assumes that you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods indicated and then redeem all of your shares at the end of those periods. The Example also assumes that your investment has a 5% return each year and that the Fund's operating expenses remain the same. Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions your costs would be:

1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
$112	$500	$913	$2,066

Portfolio Turnover

The Fund pays transaction costs, such as commissions, when it buys and sells securities (or "turns over" its portfolio). A higher portfolio turnover rate may indicate higher transaction costs and may result in higher taxes when Fund shares are held in a taxable account. These costs, which are not reflected in total annual fund operating expenses or in the Example, affect the Fund's performance. During the most recent fiscal year, the Fund's portfolio turnover rate was 96% of the average value of its portfolio.

Principal Investment Strategies

The Fund will normally invest at least 80% of its assets in common stocks of small capitalization ("small cap") companies. The Fund considers a company to be a small-cap company if, at the time of purchase, the company has a market capitalization less than $4 billion. The Fund may invest a significant portion of its assets in common stocks of micro-capitalization ("micro-cap") companies with market capitalizations less than $250 million at the time of purchase. Under normal market conditions, the weighted average market capitalization of the Fund's portfolio will be less than that of the Russell 2000 Growth Index, and sector weights are limited to, on an absolute basis, no more than 1500 basis points over- or under-weight any one sector in the Russell 2000 Growth Index. As of September 30, 2018, the largest company in the Russell 2000 Growth Index has a market capitalization of approximately $7.2 billion. The Fund may hold securities that are outside of this range so long as it complies with the requirements of the Fund's principal investment strategies and the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the "1940 Act"). The Fund will not exclusively invest in companies represented in the Russell 2000 Growth Index and such investments may constitute substantially less than 80% of the Fund's assets. The Fund may invest up to 25% of its assets in foreign securities (including American Depositary Receipts ("ADRs")) that are listed in the United States on a national securities exchange. In deciding which securities to buy, hold or sell for the Fund, the Adviser seeks to invest in innovative companies with strong business models, the financial resources to execute on their business plan and the potential for significant top line growth. The Adviser's process combines bottom-up fundamental research with a thematic approach. The Adviser's fundamental research is an exhaustive assessment of five broad factors: (1) market opportunity and competitive positioning; (2) business model; (3) financial position; (4) management; and (5) valuation. The Adviser aims to identify small-cap companies early in the growth curve before they are appreciated by the broader market and whose stocks can appreciate regardless of the current operating environment.

The Adviser employs a theme-based approach when exploring new investment opportunities. The Adviser attempts to identify current trends and changes within specific industries that might prove beneficial to a number of companies and it is common for the Adviser to invest in multiple companies along this one common theme. Themes are often based on disruptive events, new technologies, changing regulations, cultural and behavioral changes, and industry cycles. Once a theme is identified, the Adviser seeks to identify not only the primary beneficiaries of the theme, but secondary and tertiary beneficiaries as well. As a result, themes can ultimately be comprised of companies in several industries within multiple sectors. The core tenet of thematic investing is owning multiple companies that stand to benefit from the same trend and/or economic tailwind. Identifying a variety of companies poised to enjoy improving fundamentals is the primary advantage of a theme-based approach. Thematic investing also aims to reduce the company-specific risks inherent in small-cap investing. The Adviser believes this approach leads to ideas earlier than they can be identified through quantitative screening. Additionally, the Adviser believes its thematic approach leads to a portfolio that emphasizes the growth areas of the economy. Importantly, while themes are an excellent source of new ideas, investments are made solely on the fundamental merits of the individual company.

The Fund will typically hold shares of stock in 90 to 120 companies, with no single company exceeding 5% of the Fund's portfolio at the time of purchase. Generally, the Adviser will sell a company's stock when the price approaches the Adviser's estimate of economic value or when the fundamentals of the company have deteriorated. The Adviser also may sell if changing circumstances alter its assessment of the company's economic value or if more attractive alternatives are identified.

Principal Investment Risks

Please be aware that you may lose money by investing in the Fund. The following is a summary description of the principal risks of investing in the Fund.

- General Market Risk. The Fund's net asset value ("NAV") and investment return will fluctuate based upon changes in the value of its portfolio securities. You could lose money on your investment in the Fund, or the Fund could underperform other investments.
- Management Risk. The Adviser's investment strategies for the Fund may not result in an increase in the value of your investment or in overall performance equal to other investments.
- Common Stock Risk. Common stocks are susceptible to general stock market fluctuations and to volatile increases and decreases in value as market confidence in and perceptions of their issuers change. Common stock is generally subject to greater risk than preferred stocks and debt obligations because holders of common stock generally have inferior rights to receive payments from issuers in comparison with the rights of the holders of other securities, bondholders and other creditors.
- Small-Cap and Micro-Cap Companies Risk. Investments in small-cap and micro-cap companies entail greater risks than those associated with larger, more established companies, including greater volatility and less liquidity. Generally, the smaller the company size, the greater the risks.
- Growth-Style Investing Risk. Because the Fund focuses on growth-style stocks, its performance may at times be better or worse than the performance of funds that focus on other types of stocks or that have a broader investment style. Growth stocks are often characterized by high price-to-earnings ratios, which may be more volatile than stocks with lower price-to-earnings ratios.
- Foreign Securities Risk. The Adviser may invest in foreign securities and ADRs relating to foreign securities. Investments in foreign financial markets present political, regulatory and economic risks which are significant and which may differ in kind and degree from the risks presented by investments in the U.S. financial markets. These may include changes in foreign currency exchange rates or controls, greater price volatility, differences in accounting standards and policies and in the type and nature of disclosures required to be provided by foreign issuers, substantially less liquidity, controls on foreign investment, limitations on repatriation of invested capital and imposition of foreign withholding taxes.
